WCMS Website Disclaimer

WCMS acts as a funding facilitator, connecting business owners seeking funding with prospective investors and lenders. Its services include internal business screening, investor outreach, introductions and coordination of communications and funding discussions, as agreed under a written mandate. WCMS does not lend money, accept or hold investment funds, or make investment or lending decisions.

Business Evaluation and Information

WCMS's five-stage evaluation is an internal screening process to determine whether to accept a business for funding facilitation. Completion of this process does not constitute certification of the business, regulatory approval, investment advice or assurance of investment safety.

Business information and fundraising materials are provided or approved by the business owner and its appointed advisers. Projections, estimates and forward-looking statements are based on assumptions and may differ materially from actual results. WCMS's screening and circulation of materials do not replace independent verification, professional advice or due diligence.

Independent Decisions

Investors and lenders are responsible for their own assessment, due diligence and funding decisions. The business owner independently decides whether to accept or reject any funding offer and its terms, after obtaining appropriate professional advice.

WCMS's introduction of parties or communication of an offer does not constitute an investment recommendation, endorsement of funding terms or commitment on behalf of either party. WCMS has no authority to bind either party and does not guarantee that either party will proceed with or fulfil a funding arrangement.

Fees and Professional Services

WCMS is engaged and remunerated by the business owner through signup and success fees under a written mandate. WCMS may share these fees with its business partners under separate arrangements. WCMS does not act as an independent investment adviser to prospective investors or lenders.

External professional services, including financial modelling, projections, structuring, valuation, legal advice and transaction documentation, are subject to separate engagement terms and may involve additional fees. The relevant professionals remain responsible for their respective services and opinions.

Funding Conditions

Any funding arrangement is entered into directly between the business and the relevant investor or lender. Funding is subject to eligibility, independent assessment, due diligence, applicable laws, required approvals and definitive agreements. Funding approval, amounts, terms, outcomes and timelines are not guaranteed.

Website Information and Engagement Terms

Information on this website describes WCMS's services and does not constitute an offer or invitation to subscribe to securities, an investment recommendation, or legal, tax or investment advice.

The specific scope of WCMS's services, fees and contractual responsibilities is governed by its written engagement agreement. Nothing in this disclaimer excludes or limits any liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.
